Consequently, earth history contains flood epochs - times when climate and topography combine to produce higher-than-typical frequencies of large floods. To produce floods with discharges 3 greater than about 1 million m s, times of advanced continental ice sheets and rapidly changing global water balances are required. In many locations, these outsized floods from previous flood epochs were dominant forces in establishing regional drainage networks and landscape patterns that persisted into times of fewer extreme floods. Other geologically controlled cataclysmic floods are probably more evenly distributed in time, at least at time scales...
