[...]stockings are a mass of runs from those nasty brambles! Humph! Just think how lucky you are to be alive, suggested Dorothy callously. Look-we re coming into another meadow. Yes-and there s a light-must be a house up there on the hill. What if they won t let us in? wailed Betty. They were heading across the meadow, now, toward the hill. Dorothy stopped and turned the flashlight on her friend. You certainly are a gloom! she declared angrily. Do you think I m enjoying this? My shoes and stockings are ruined, too, and this ducky dress I m crazy about has a rip in the skirt a yard long. It will probably be worse by the time we get through the brush on that hillside. But there s absolutely no use in whining about it-and there s not a darned thing to be scared of. Is that clear to[.].
